

Launching and multiplying new communities of believers.

Many church leaders concede they are often plagued with a feeling that something is not working because making disciples...and making disciples who make disciples seems not just hard, but nearly impossible.

They look around and see:

- A shifting culture that marginalizes the Church
- Enormous downward pressures on existing ministries
- The absence of young people-Millennial and Gen X populations

A few summon the courage to question what they might need to do to adjust and adapt. And even fewer choose to act.

PLI's Discipleship to Missional Community helps you take on the current trend of weak followership of Jesus in your church by learning a new way of being leader and missionary. This Learning Community teaches church leaders a specific rhythm that can be repeated over and over again to help people become closer followers of Christ...and join with others to be a people on a mission.

If you're a leader who feels this frustration and you want to:

- Act,
- Take on the current trend of weak followership of Jesus, and
- Learn a new way of being leader and missionary,

...then you should take a look at PLI's Discipleship to Missional Community.
